IX. Additional Notes

- A. This policy does not prohibit expressive activity protected by the First Amendment of the United States Constitution. However, if off-campus speech that may constitute a bullying, cyber-bullying, hazing, or retaliation incident creates a substantial disruption to the school environment, under Tinker v. Des Moines, 393 U.S. 503 (1969), Summit Academy may take disciplinary action against the student who initiated the speech. Factors that Summit Academy may consider in determining whether a substantial disruption has occurred are:
1. whether there is a verbal or physical confrontation over the incident at school;
 2. whether there is likely to be a verbal or physical confrontation based on evidence of a prior relationship between the victim and the student who initiated the speech;
 3. whether any part of the speech that gave rise to the incident was repeated at school
 4. whether students are discussing the incident during class or if it otherwise is disrupting school work;
 5. whether there is widespread whispering campaign or rumor sparked by the off-campus incident that disrupts the school environment and students' abilities to focus on school;
 6. whether administrators who dealt with the incident were pulled from their ordinary tasks to address the incident and how much time it took out of an administrator's day to do so;
 7. whether speech similar to the off-campus speech in this incident has occurred in the past and has resulted in violence or near violence at school;
 8. whether there is negative effect on classroom activities as a result of the off-campus incident; or
 9. whether the speech was violent or whether there is a history of violence from the student's who initiated the speech. True threats are not protected by the First Amendment if it advocates "imminent" violence or unlawful conduct. Thus, a message that threatens physical harm, even if it isn't meant to be serious, may not be protected by the First Amendment and the person who utters such a message may be disciplined by Summit Academy.
